2. [REDACTED] LIAISON Met with Representative J. Kenneth Robinson (R., Va.) to express the Director's concern over whether we had effectively communicated to the member the adverse affect on Agency sources of publicity and uncertainties surrounding the investigations. Mr. Robinson commented that on his recent trip to the Far East he had been told by several of our station chiefs that this was no real problem but I pointed out that while this may be true of a local situation such as in [REDACTED] it is not an accurate generalization. I then sited several examples to him and showed him a writeup of the worldwide affect which had been provided by the DDO. Mr. Robinson agreed with me that you can change the name of the Agency but if you can't protect it sources, the Agency would not be worth whatever name is given to it and it is a long-term proposition to build the underlying faith and confidence required. Mr. Robinson said we must close the door and not disclose any more secrets and asked that we call upon him whenever we need.

3. [REDACTED] LIAISON Met with Representative Donald Riegle (D., Mich.) and closed out a question he had raised with a private third party in a hearing before the Subcommittee on International Political and Military Affairs, House International Relations Committee, which if answered for the record would [REDACTED] Mr. Riegle was very appreciative of our coming forward on this matter; agreed that his question need not be answered and that he would keep the general information I had given him secret. I assured him that the secret information had no relationship to the object of his question. In response to his query, I told him that Chairman Dante Fascell (D., Fla.) had been advised.
